

From the Millevaches Plateau to the volcanoes park Circuit N°25

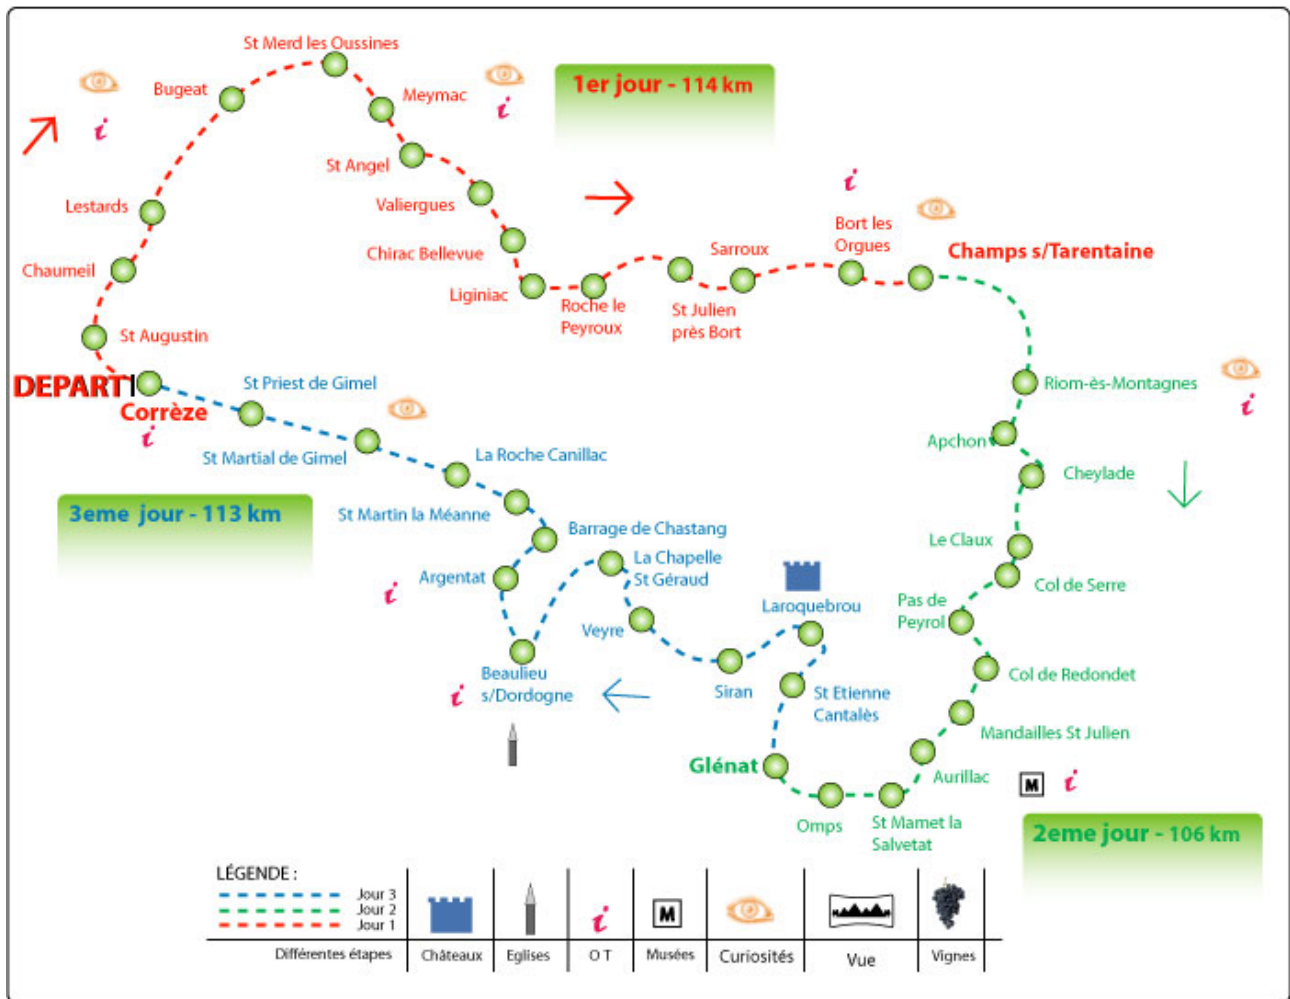

It is the "Vast Stretches" itinerary.

Leaving the hills will inevitably lead to climb a Puy where a majestic panorama will be discovered from its summit.

The particularly scenic roads scattered with villages hanged on the mountain side will be a part of the show.

The travel book recommend the number of minimum days which can be devoted to the itinerary.

A pristine region, paradise for the lovers of nature activities, to discover unusual places, scenic villages to amble in the side streets.

What to discover : the city of Tulle surrounded by 7 hills, the tapestry-maker's house in Aubusson, the windmills and Medieval houses of Argenton sur Creuse, the village martyr d'Oradour-sur-Glane, the Vassivière lake.

Wines : Branceilles wines.

Local Produce/Gastronomy : violet mustard, mushrooms, river fishes, Limousine soup flognarde, pancake from Corrèze.

Traditional Handicraft : D'Aubusson tapestry, Chinas from Limoges, Pouligny tile factory, Laces from Tulle, St Junien glove making, stained glasses and enamels of art, gold washing.

From the Millevaches Plateau to the volcanoes park, Circuit N°25

Day 1 :

Towering a medieval village which keeps some remains of fortifications and beautiful houses with their Renaissance façades, La Sèniarie de Corrèze is a magnificent home which will provide quietness and serenity.

In Chaumeil you will approach the Monédières massif which harbours the circus circling around the Freysselines helmet and the view from Luc-au-May over the Millevaches plateau.

At Bugeat you will approach the Vézère valley . Its waters supply ponds and lakes galore. A few miles away the Gallo-Roman remains in Cars testify that an old human presence existed in this area. You will travel in the vicinity of Puy Pendu where the thousand-year old peat bog of Longéroux harbours an outstanding flora and fauna.

Travelling along the beech tree road, the views will offer a panorama over the viaduct of the Farges valley and the Sechemailles lake, you will reach the town of Meymac. In the XIIIth century abbey some archaeological collections trace back the populating and the life on the Millevaches plateau. At Roche-le-Peyroux you will reach the Dordogne before travelling along the gorges of Diège.

Near Saint-Julien-près-Bort the Saint-Nazaire site offers an outstanding view over the river and its tributary.

You will drive along Puy-de-Bort and you will enter the majestic columns site of Orgues (organs)de Bort.

After a un passage on the road of the Bort dam crests, you will reach Champs-sur-Tarentaine at the end of the Rhue valley.

From the Millevaches Plateau to the volcanoes park, Circuit N°25

2 Day 2 :

You will enjoy the gentle pleasures of life in the Auberge du Vieux Chêne, a former Auvergnate farm amidst a prairie scattered with fruit trees. As soon as you leave you will sink in a valley between its wooded slopes which display some more depth to the gorges of Rhue.

After the Vaussaire dam by the hydroelectric plant you will follow the stream of the little Rhue to reach Riom-ès-Montagnes and the natural regional Park of Volcanoes.

Upon leaving the town a beautiful panorama stands out on the upper Cézallier plateaus, the Mounts Dore, a part of the Mounts of Cantal and the Falgoux valley which can be particularly distinguished from the ruins of the Apchon castle ; however it is the gilded-wood retable from the XVIIth century church which is worth visiting in this town.

You will reach the Rhue valley at Cheylade. Discover the painted coffers on the church vault.

The road winds up towards the Serres pass before hanging to the Puy Mary slopes, besides it offers a unique view over the valley and the Mounts of Cantal.

You will leave the Peyrol pass along a corniche road which overlooks the Falgoux circus. You will distinguish the crests of Puy Griou and the Plomb of Cantal. Following the Jordanne stream and its legend which claimed it carried along golden nuggets, you will reach Aurillac the Haute Auvergne capital. Visit the Saint-Etienne castle which houses the museum of Values. To put an end to this day you will reach the Cère valley.

From the Millevaches Plateau to the volcanoes park, Circuit N°25

3 Day 3 :

In this old fortified castle (XIIIth-XVIIth century) you will find authenticity and comfort.

A few kilometres from Glénat you will stop on the crest of the Saint-Etienne-Cantalès dam to admire a superb landscape composed of an immense water damming scattered with islands and peninsula.

After Laroquebrou you will find back the Cère and you will cross the gorges near the Vieyre railways station. A railway track offering a scenic circuit hangs on the gorge slopes.

From La Chapel Saint-Géraud the road circuit will provide superb views over Dordogne. You will find back in Beaulieu a town which shelters the remains of a former monastery Benedictine and a superb Roman church from the XIIth et XIIIth centuries.

You will travel along a small road to follow up the Dordogne until Argentat. This town harbours some XVIth et XVIIth century houses perfectly restored which give evidence of a great prosperity past.

After the Argentat dam the road will follow the gorges all along the immensity of the water damming.

You will leave the Dordogne valley by crossing the Chastang dam. Its water damming harbours a base of leisure and activities where you will have the opportunity to bathe. On your way you will meet the Gimel waterfalls which rush from from a 140 height, or some vacation resorts such as the Ruffaud pond. Further you will find back the upper valley of Corrèze.
